2007 Apalachicola Music Fest Weekend
Introduction of Anna Wilson
November 10, 2007

Your attendance here tonight demonstrates the important role of local Art and Theater within our community. The Apalachicola Community greatly appreciates your support for the Dixie Theater.

It gives me great pleasure to introduce to you the headline entertainment for tonight. She appeared here in Apalachicola during the second Dixie Does Nashville. She was born and raised in Chester Springs, Pennsylvania. She has a CD just released in April 2007, titled "Time Changes Everything." She is a veteran pop/jazz recording artist and songwriter. She had toured with such musical stars as Boz Scaggs and Mary Carpenter and she has written songs for Reba McEntire and Lee Ann Womack.

She has lended her talent to such worthy projects as Habitat for Humanity, where she sings the Habitat-inspired song, "A House, A Home". On November 28, she will be performing in a benefit for the Alzheimer Association along with recording artist Keith Urban. She's accompanied tonight by her husband Monthy Powell who is a prolific songwriter himself.

Ladies and gentlemen, we are delighted to have the talented, Anna Wilson.
